WHAT IS LINDY HOP?

The Lindy Hop is an energetic African-American partner dance that came to fruition in Harlem's dance halls, most notably the Savoy Ballroom, in the late 1920s and early 1930s. The Lindy's development was closely linked to and hugely influenced by the music of the time—big band jazz, also called swing music.

The elegant Savoy Ballroom was mecca for Lindy Hoppers because the best bands played there for the best dancers, devotees who pushed the boundaries of ballroom dancing to create a spectacularly exciting form. The Lindy became a worldwide phenomenon during the Swing Era (1935-45), popularized as the jitterbug or swing dancing, lighting up ballrooms, theaters, nightclubs, and films throughout the Great Depression and World War II.
